CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR Edmund (Pat) Brown, sporting a ten gallon hat presented to him by television producer-star Desi Arnaz during Brown's recent visit to Palm Springs.

BROWN TO HEAD PARADE, AID CIRCUS AT EVENTS

Grand marshal of the 23rd Annual Palm Springs Desert Circus will be California's Governor Edmund (Pat) Brown, it was announced here today by Jimmy Morton, president of the Desert Circus Association.

Brown will preside over the five-day circus which begins here April 1, Morton said.

AT THE SAME time, Morton also announced:

—That Colorado Governor Steve McNichols has been invited to head a delegation of Coloradans who will arrive here on April 2, Colorado, celebrating its centennial this year, is being saluted by the Desert Circus during the five days.

—That the Kangaroo Court for the Desert Circus will be conducted at 4 p. m., April 4, in the Tennis Club. Morton made the announcement in conjunction with Kangaroo Court co-chairmen Robert Marx, Eddie Meyerson and Don Levy.

PLANNING FOR THE overall Desert Circus program is still continuing, Morton said, although the organization is struggling to arrange a suitable card for the proposed April 4 prizefight at the Polo Grounds.

Other phases of the Desert Circus program now in the programming stages are a plan to re-set the Playhouse Guild's "First Nighter" dinner and performance for Desert Circus Week to Wednesday, making it part of the organization's promotion. A Desert Circus golf tourney, tentatively slated for April 3, hasn't been established as to location or time.

PROGRAMMED FOR certain are these activities:

April 2—Greeting for the Denver contingent on its arrival here. The flag of the State of Colorado will be hoisted beneath the American flag at Palm Springs City Hall and the entire group of visitors.

Burglars Net $250 in Cash

Burglars last night raided the dental offices of Dr. Francis A. Purcell at 700 North Palm Canyon Drive, netting about $250 in cash.

Detective Richard Larson said the burglars broke through a window and pried open a file cabinet to get the cash.

KENNEDY RATED NUMBER ONE FOR DEMOCRATS

TRENTON, N. J. (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said Wednesday Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) appears to be the front-running contender for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Butler quickly added that no one had the nomination "sewed up" and predicted a free and open convention. He said his appraisals were based on the opinions expressed to him and that a great many key Democrats still had not decided whom to support.

Butler also said he was convinced that Adlai Stevenson, the party's unsuccessful candidate for the presidency in 1952 and 1956, would not seek the nomination. He predicted that Stevenson would not get the nomination even as a compromise candidate.

tors will then adjourn to the home of the Herman Ridders for a cocktail party.

A celebration at the Racquet Club will follow dinner, with Desert Circus deputies adjourning from that location to sell immunization badges — as protection against Kangaroo Court — to citizens of the Village as they proceed on a "Night on the Town."

April 3—Social high point of the Desert Circus is the Big Top Ball, scheduled this year for Thunderbird Country Club.

APRIL 4—ANTIQUE cars by the hundreds are expected to pour into town for the First Annual Antique Car Rally, scheduled in conjunction with Desert Circus.

The cars will participate in the Desert Circus parade, to be led by Governor Brown, beginning at 10 a. m. from Palm Canyon Drive at Tachevah Drive south to Ramon Road.

Kangaroo Court is scheduled for 4 p. m. in the Tennis Club with Marty Johnson, Ross Dille, Maurice Smith, Bill Foster and Joe Smith aiding the co-chairmen.

At 8:30 p. m., if current difficulties are resolved, a major boxing match will be held at the Polo Grounds. Alternatives for non-pugilistic minded residents will be the Playhouse program or the Sheriff's Dance at Elks Clubhouse.

APRIL 5—JUDGING of antique cars will start at 9:30 a. m., with a chuck wagon luncheon to follow at 11:30 a. m. and competition for the antique cars scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

At 2 p. m., the Denver visitors will leave and a square dance will begin—at a location to be established later.

The Desert Circus will culminate with the performance in Palm Springs High School Auditorium by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra at 8:15 p. m.

Shearer Resigns Post On Park and Recreation Board

Ben F. Shearer, Seattle businessman and Palm Springs winter resident, yesterday resigned from the Park and Recreation Board after serving 12 years, as an aftermath of City Council action on the municipal golf course, which he opposed.

In his resignation, which was in a letter addressed to Mayor Bogert, Shearer did not give a reason, but said that it was to take effect immediately and that his "decision was not debatable."

Shearer considered similar action last year when the council was considering requiring members of boards and commissions to be registered voters, which would have eliminated Shearer, but he was prevailed upon by council members to withdraw his resignation and remain on the board. Mayor Bogert said he thought Shearer's resignation would be accepted unanimously by the City Council, with regrets.

Shopping Center Action Delayed

Beleaguered by stiff competitive opposition and faced with dissension in their own ranks, planners of a million-dollar Smoke Tree Ranch shopping center were stalemated by a new hurdle yesterday — the City Planning Commission itself.

Apparently fearful of upsetting the balance of their proposed city Master Plan, commissioners deferred judgment on the Smoke Tree program pending the outcome of further study sessions possibly with planning consultant Simon Eisner and the City Council.

COMMISSION MEMBERS viewed plans for the East Palm Canyon Drive shopping center as a case of "putting the cart before the horse." They feel the center may be participating the master plan by "as much as 10 years." The commission again continued hearing on Smoke Trees application for a conditional use permit for two weeks, capping an hour-long session yesterday.

FORTIFIED BY representation from Walt Disney Productions, a platoon of Smoke Tree executives advanced on the commission for a second hearing round on their controversial center.

Harrison Price, Smoke Trees research consultant, offered hefty documented testimony asserting that the city's mounting tourist population and its purchasing power can easily support Smoke Trees neighborhood shopping center.

Price charged that "opposition to this project stems from a fear of competition."

THE OPPOSITION he referred to came from Ray Ryan and the Seeterra Corp., planners of a mammoth McCallum Way commercial and recreational project.

The opponents charged that the 14½-acre Smoke Tree development which embraces a market, bowling alley, drug store, gas station and a restaurant — cocktail lounge, infringes on their own neighborhood shopping center area.

WALT DISNEY, a Smoke Tree resident and planning director of the ranch, entered the commission picture in the form of a letter read by Albert Weinert, president of Smoke Trees Board of Directors.

Disney, in charge of designing the center that ranges across Smoke Trees Palm Canyon Drive and Sunrise Way frontage, rated the project as a major benefit for resort tourists and residents.

Weinert, introduced by ranch manager Herb Siemsen, said the project was approved unanimously by ranch stockholders and stated that commission approval will be "promptly followed by development of the ranch frontage."

"IT WAS NOT unanimous, re-torted Smoke Tree resident Bruce Burritt, speaking from an audience of some 50 spectators. "Many of us do not like the way this thing is set up." Burritt pointed out that some INGLEWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — The Air Force said today that its Discoverer I satellite is in orbit.

The satellite, launched in a north-south polar orbit last Saturday at Vandenberg Air Force Base some 160 miles northwest of Los Angeles, emitted only irregular signals, apparently because of a malfunctioning radio.

ONE OF THE BOYS who escaped said the screams of other boys awakened him. "The room was so filled with smoke I could hardly see, said Nolan Fortner, 16. "Everybody was trying to get out through the windows. I pushed one boy aside and crawled out."

Another said he kicked out a screen and crawled out a window. Robert Ramon, 15, said he awoke and found the room filled with smoke.

21 Youths Burned to Death Today

Arkansas Negro Boys Dormitory Doors 'Locked'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (UPI) — Twenty-one Negro boys burned to death early today when fire swept through their dormitory at the Arkansas Negro Boys Industrial School, 12 miles south of here.

The figure was established by Bill Struebing, a lieutenant in the fire marshals section of the Arkansas State Police.

GOV. ORVAL E. Faubus, who went immediately to the scene, said he was told that the doors to the one-story brick veneer building were locked, and there was no caretaker in the building.

Faubus said he would begin an immediate investigation.

The fire broke out in the room of the caretaker, who was ill and not at the school.

ONE PUMPER truck from Little Rock went to the scene, but the blaze was out of control when it arrived. The firemen pumped water out of a swimming pool to cool the gutted building.

L. R. Gaines, the Negro superintendent, said the building, erected as a WPA project in 1938, went up "like matchsticks."

He said 68 boys were asleep in the barracks-like room of the building when the fire was discovered. Many kicked the glass and screens out of windows in their mad scramble to escape.

ONE OF THE BOYS who escaped said the screams of other boys awakened him.

"The room was so filled with smoke I could hardly see, said Nolan Fortner, 16. "Everybody was trying to get out through the windows. I pushed one boy aside and crawled out."

'Marked' Bills Aid in Capture Of Suspect

'Invisible Powder' Used to Solve Thefts at School

Three detectives armed with ultra-violet lights today laid a trap that snared two young men suspected of systematically looting school district offices since last November.

Charged with suspicion of grand theft were Francis Stevens School janitor Herbert D. Jackson, 23, of 386 South Indian Avenue, and his roommate, Bill Gene Lawley, 24.

DETECTIVE ROBERT Flavin said the two were suspected of taking more than $200 in petty cash from desk drawers of the school offices in the past three months.

Flavin said the thieves managed to evade periodic "stake-outs," so Flavin and Detectives Robert Davis and Steve Stevenson planted marked bills, sprayed with an "invisible" powder, in various locations.

THE POWDER takes on a brilliant hue when exposed to ultraviolet rays, Flavin said.

When a $10 plant was reported missing by Assistant School Supt. Jack Miles this morning, the detectives subjected Jackson and Lawley to the ultra-violet treatment.

GARCIA REVEALS PLAN FOR 'HOOP-O'

Gambler Bobby Garcia, who is very successful in keeping Riverside County Sheriff Joe Rice looking up the legality of gambling methods, today announced his intention of opening a "Hoop-O-parlor" in the unincorporated community of Garnet.

Hoop-O is played similar to bingo, except that it calls for a hoop to be thrown over a peg, which gives the game a legal element of skill.

ON HEARING the news today, Sheriff Rice said that if the game is set up correctly, it is legal, but if there is a deviation to the game (like he said was done in Cabazon a few months ago) it will be closed down.

Garcia said that he has leased a building for five years, a converted barracks building, from David Margolius, owner of the Ambassador Hotel in Palm Springs, for $450 a month. He plan to put about $40,000 worth of improvements in the building.

It's that time again.

Former Air Force officer Ben Romer, vacationing for a few days at the Tramway Inn here, reported that he sighted "a bright, shiny object with an erratic flight pattern" skipping along over Mt. San Jacinto yesterday.

"It sure as hell wasn't an airplane," he said.

Romer, who said that his wife also saw the rapidly-moving object, wanted to know if anyone else in the Village had spotted the strange craft. The Pomona visitor was told that he was the first, but probably not the last. After all, it's that time again.

Incorporation Opponents Lose Battle

Supervisors Ordered To Hold Hearing On Area's Eligibility

Opponents of incorporation for North Palm Springs yesterday lost a battle in their campaign to halt cityhood for that community when Justice Judge Wallace P. Rouse ordered the Riverside County Board of Supervisors to call a public hearing on the incorporation.

The jurist, sitting as a special sessions judge for the Superior Court, overruled a challenge by the opponents and left only the supervisors as a hurdle for an election on incorporation.

ATTORNEY JIM SCHLECHT, handling the case for opponents of North Palm Springs incorporation, rejected the recent announcement that Palm Springs was in back of the protest. He said he wanted to make it clear that his clients are North Palm Springs residents who are against the proposal.

"Palm Springs only reaction to the incorporation of North Palm Springs was voiced last year after the resort city heard that Bobby Garcia intended to use the new city to operate a gambling club at the Palm Springs city limits, said Schlecht.

CITY ATTORNEY Jerry Bunker said today in Palm Springs that the city is not now engaged in any litigation with the proponents of the North Palm Springs incorporation, even though the council had voiced its opinion that the new city would not benefit the area with its proposed use of the area for industry and gambling.

To get an election, incorporation backers now have to convince the Board of Supervisors that their proposed boundaries encompass at least 500 permanent residents.

Two Members Of Missing Family Found

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. — (UPI) — The bodies of a pinafore-clad little girl and a man with a bullet wound in his head — found in an abandoned sawdust pile — were tentatively identified today as the father and one daughter of a four-member family missing for seven weeks.

A search was intensified for the mother and another daughter. Police were moving grimly toward an expected end to their search for the mysteriously missing family. But the question of what happened and why remained as deep a mystery as ever.

Curtis Jackson, Richmond, uncle of the missing man, viewed the two bodies and said he was "satisfied" they were those of his nephew and the man's little girl.

Second in Series

'Socrates Living Cost' to Be Topic

The second often "Adventures in Living," conducted each Thursday at 8 p.m. in The Desert Inn, will discuss "Socrates and the cost of living" in tonight's session. John Robert Clarke, the globe-trotting ex-teacher who originated the series some six years ago in San Diego, yesterday thanked the nearly 50 Villagers who turned out for last week's initial "adventure" and added that enrollments are still continuing at the Desert Book Shop.

EACH OF THE series adheres to a format that finds Clarke delivering interest - jammed lectures for 45 minutes to an hour at the outset of the program.

A coffee break lasts approximately 15 minutes and is followed by what Clarke terms "a great circle discussion" in which all attendees are asked to air their views on the topic of the evening.

IN THURSDAY'S session, "Why to Read a Book" discussion soon found its way to a general analysis of book censorship with vital opinions being offered. Admission to the "Adventures in Living" series is $2 per lecture. A book of admissions to the entire series is available for $15.

It Isn't the Wheat

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —Homemakers' quiz: What is the cost of wheat in a loaf of bread? Slightly under three cents, or 2.5 cents to be exact, says John Moore, extension specialist at Michigan State University. Biggest expenses in getting bread to market are costs of baking, wholesaling and retailing.

In spite of recent increases in the price, a factory worker can buy about 11 one-pound loaves of white bread compared to 9.7 loaves in 1948.

'DIARY OF ANNE FRANK' IS CURRENT PLAYHOUSE PLAY

By GEORGE LAINE

In a period of time slightly in excess of two years, a young Jewish girl utilized a period of terror and constant danger to mature from a squealing, squeaking adolescent into an idealistic but philosophical young woman.

In "The Diary of Anne Frank," premiered in a benefit performance for Temple Isaiah and the Palm Springs Jewish Community Center on Monday, the essence of this development and the manner in which it was accomplished is told — sometimes effectively, sometimes not so effectively.

FOR 15-YEAR-OLD Jenny Hecht, cast as the variable Miss Frank, the task sometimes exceeds the bounds of her capabilities. In the main, however, the youthful actress creates an often believable image of the martyred girl. In scenes with some of the cast members who seem to possess an understanding of the story — persons like Rudolph Anders, Marketa Kimbrell, Claude Johnson and Sue McDonald — the likeness is at its best.

Sometimes, when paired with Thayer Roberts, William Hughes or Phyllis Flax, her efforts become less satisfactory.

THE POINT ISN'T that Miss Hecht is a sometimes brilliant, sometimes dull actress. That might be the case, but it is far too soon to determine when the young lady is but 15 years of age and reaching for a role which no less a light than Susan Strasburg has defined as "the biggest challenge" in postwar drama.

The play, which suffers somewhat from the in-fernal presentation, is presented in two acts. Both are long, drawn, and laden with lines—furnished by Francis Goodrich and Albert Hackett — that sometimes test credulity.

Best job in the Playhouse production is rendered by Rudolph Anders, who gives the role of Otto Frank a thorough understanding and comes up with a poignant characterization that often brought tears to the eyes of the benefit audience. European-born, Anders brought the role a real authenticity.

ANOTHER EUROPEAN, Marketa Kimbrell, gave an almost equal characterization as Anne's mother. There was a continuous flow of sincerity in the actress' work, a factor that could have been emulated by some of the other cast members. Claude Johnson, a Redding product, comes into his own in his performance as Peter Van Daan. The same earnestness that marked both Anders and Miss Kimbrell is apparent in his work here. His scenes with Miss Hecht are a joy to behold, a boy-girl relationship that doesn't verge on the insipid, trite or immoral.

The only other chore in "Diary" that might be deserving of an accolade is Sue McDonald's sudden grasp of a playwright's story. Thus far this season, Playhouse audiences have watched the attractive young Montana girl stagger through a number of ill-advised roles. As the older sister of Anne Frank, she is particularly cognizant of that relationship (I would not be surprised if Miss McDonald didn't have a younger sister back home in Missoula), and each of their scenes together had a thoroughly authentic ring about it.

ALTHOUGH THAYER Roberts completely overdid the Van Daan role, it was Phyllis Flax, not Roberts, who jolted this reviewer. In the past, her performances have seemed to indicate great insight. But Mrs. Van Daan strikes this corner as a rather pathetic figure, not the blustering individual that this actress creates. Janet Wulner, as Miep, gives a believable reading to a small role, but Roy Baker and William Hughes run through their lines as though they had them by rote, not by feel. Hughes' role is larger than Baker so he appeared less palatable.

IT IS DIFFICULT to specify a single weakness in the Playhouse production of "The Diary of Anne Frank." The staging (next to impossible for theater-in-the-round isn't badly done. The lighting is actually quite good, considering the stage. The direction might take another look at the latter portions of Act One and see if a speed-up might alleviate what appears to be a bog-down in pace.

The reading of the "Diary of Anne Frank" was such a gripping experience, such an emotional involvement that attendees at the Playhouse could well expect the same from the drama. As it stands now, it is not.

On Assessments

Fireworks Are Expected At Next Study Hearing

Fireworks are expected at the next hearing of a joint interim study committee which evaluated equalization of property taxation. Assemblyman Lee Backstrand said this week.

The 71st District assemblyman said that study report indicated that:

—THE STATE assesses public utility property at about 50 per cent of its full cash value while the statewide average for locally-assessed property runs about 25 per cent.

—The California Constitution is not being bent to in in equality of treatment for all taxed property.

—It is possible, however, to determine the actual cash value of any property.

THE 240 - PAGE report by the interim committee, financed by what Backstrand termed "substantial research funds," called for a legal assessment level of 30 per cent for all property with the scale leveling over a 10-year span. Where the fireworks will come in, Backstrand feels, is from opponents of enforced equalization who claim that the cut in utility taxes (roughly about $95 million annually) would be transferred to local taxpayers.

Backstrand said that this claim has "foundation."

THE FACTION favoring the revision — notably the utility firms — claim that local taxpayers throughout the state have benefited "some three-quarters of a billion dollars" at the expense of utility consumers. All taxes, they rationalize, are paid from consumer income anyway.

Jurist in Safety Talk Here Friday

When the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce named then Municipal Judge Roger Alton Pfaff its choice as "Man of the Year" in 1950, there was little surprise.

Many Jaycees in the metropolis, in fact, wondered why Pfaff, who will speak at 8 p.m., Friday, here, in the City Council chambers, hadn't been honored sooner.

A FORMER newsmen, State legislator, and a wartime member of the highly-publicized OSS intelligence organization, Pfaff was named a Municipal Court judge in Los Angeles by then-Governor Earl Warren. That was 1947.

Since then, the laurels have been coming thick and fast for the man who believes that something besides talk—can be done about the nation's meteoric hike in traffic fatalities. In 1952, he starred in a film called "A Day in Court" which has been used in traffic courts—including Palm Springs—for the past seven years.

In 1953, he became president of the Conference of California Judges. His writings in the past decade have seen print in a multitude of publications including his most widely read essay — "Don't Commit Pedestricide" — which appear in a 1957 issue of This Week magazine.

A CIVIC WORKER in addition to his professional duties, the jurist is president of the Cancer Prevention Society of Los Angeles and has been chairman of laymen's work for the Los Angeles diocese of the Episcopal Church.

Now presiding judge of the consolidated Domestic Relations and Conciliation Court in Los Angeles, Pfaff continues to make himself available for traffic safety purposes whenever and wherever possible.

His talk here is sponsored by the Palm Springs Safety Council.

Baby Returned Uninjured To Mother; Kidnapers Held

ONTARIO, Calif. — (UPI) — Nine-week-old Eric Flores, kidnaped last Friday by a babysitter who has a 19-year-old son of her own, was back uninjured today in the arms of his widowed mother.

"Oh, I'm so happy," Mrs. Ruth Flores cried. "He's smiling at me all the time just as if he knows he's back home with his mother."

"I have no hatred in my heart," Mrs. Flores readily admitted snatching Eric from the crib he shared with his twin brother, Aaron, last Friday while she was supposed to be tending Mrs. Flores six children in the Flores modest home here.

The tots auburn hair and eyebrows had been dyed black, but he looked neat and clean and apparently had been nursed over a cold from which he had been suffering.

MRS. FLORES attributed the safe return of her baby to prayers delivered at the South Euclid Baptist Church just a short time before lawmen working on a tip recovered Eric.

Mrs. Yocom readily admitted snatching Eric from the crib he shared with his twin brother, Aaron, last Friday while she was supposed to be tending Mrs. Flores six children in the Flores modest home here.

THE 180-POUND Mrs. Yocom, booked on suspicion of kidnaping, related a pathetic tale of wanting a baby by her present husband, Stephen, a truck driver. She said she had several miscarriages.

Eric was treated as her own child, Mrs. Yocom said. She told police she even convinced her husband, away for weeks at a time driving trucks, that Eric was their child to whom she had given birth during one of Yocom's absences.

Mrs. Yocom admitted she was married twice before and had a son, Samuel Leroy Mix, by her first marriage. She said she did not know her sons whereabouts.

Hope Returns For TV Shows Full of Hope

NEW YORK (UPI) — Comedian Bob Hope flies back to Hollywood today to fulfill a television commitment, taking with him medical assurances that he will regain full vision in his left eye.

Hope, 54, will be released from Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center for the trip, but he may return here next week for further diagnostic studies if physicians feel they are necessary. His television appearance is scheduled for Sunday.

Dr. Algernon B. Reese, the nationally known specialist who is treating Hope, said two days of tests indicated a blood clot in the retinal vein of Hope's left eye can be expected to disperse with continued use of anti-coagulant drugs. Reese said an operation to restore vision in the eye, now cut 50 per cent, would not be necessary.

Helicopter Aids With Capture

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — A helicopter today was credited with aiding in the capture of two young gunmen who tried to escape officers by climbing up a hillside in Tujunga Wash.

The gunmen, both 17-year-old suspects in a series of Sunland burglaries, were captured Wednesday by a squad of policemen. No shots were fired.

Outlook Much Brighter for Early Solution of State Water Problem

Recent events show that Governor Brown is sincerely striving and effectively carrying out one of his most important pre-election promises, that of developing an acceptable program for solution of California's vital and difficult state-wide water problem.

In keeping with his previously announced intentions, the Governor's first major action was the preparation and presentation to the legislature of a broad, basic and comprehensive water program. While this lacked a few specifics for actual implementation, it did provide the fundamental framework for a working plan agreeable to factions from both the northern and southern halves of the State which have been bitterly and hopelessly deadlocked over water issues for a number of years past.

First break-through as a result of having thus created more favorable grounds for a meeting of the minds and cooperative discussions came last week with almost unanimous acclaim from all sections in the adoption of a route and technical system for distribution of water from a "pool" in Central California to the parched areas of Southern California.

Having finally agreed upon a policy and means of equitable intersectional sharing of water from the excess in the northern regions, there is every reason to believe that the remaining steps of constructing the reservoirs and canals required will follow in comparatively smooth and satisfactory sequence.

There is no longer any doubt of the imperative necessity of an early start on providing an efficient and adequate system for conservation and equitable distribution of all available water throughout the State to prevent critical shortages which are otherwise certain to develop a few years hence because of continued population increases.

Now that general agreement has been reached and an atmosphere of more harmonious cooperation established, the outlook for steady progress towards constructive solution of one of California's most pressing and paramount problems shows the brightest hope of successful achievement of any time in recent history.

Given both the will and the way, all that remains is the actual "doing."

Foster Not Atlas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Secretary Dulles is a good fellow and a gallant gentleman, but his name is Foster not Atlas. He does not shoulder the world. What with a flight to Europe, a vacation in the West Indies, along with being sequestered at Walter Reed Hospital, the Secretary has been away from the State Department for the better part of a month — and you can't prove that the USA and the Free World have been any the worse for it.

UNLESS THE COLD War is a parlor game, there is no excuse for being polite to the point of delusion about the Secretary and his illness. There is more reason to appraise his worth while he is ill than to suspend the appraisal until he gets well. Should Mr. Dulles be replaced? The answer will be negative if he is the irreplaceable man. It will be negative if Mr. Dulles has made a simply superlative Secretary of State. But if his absence proves, as I am contending, that Mr. Dulles is in the category of necessity with Sherman ("I need him") Adams, then the President ought to make the change — and should have made it long ago. More, if Mr. Dulles is merely a good Secretary, as I believe, but is far from being a great one, then the President has another reason for putting in a substitute.

MR. EISENHOWER clings to his advisors, not because they are Magi but because he feels comfortable with Old Faithfuls.

around the household. A good case can be made to show that the major changes in Cabinet personnel have been an improvement. Is not Mitchell better than Dulles? Seaton better than McKay? McElroy than Wilson? Strauss than Weeks? Rogers than Brownell?

And although the President treated Sherman Adams like a walk-around oxygen bottle in a high altitude bomber, the separation has proved beneficial rather than otherwise. It is not good enough to say that the country must have an hors de combat Secretary of State just because the President "needs" him.

MR. DULLES' reputation as a statesman is based on factors of negation. He has not willingly yielded any ground to the Communist Monster and not willingly permitted any allies to wander from the Free World fold. By threats (but not action) concerning "massive retaliation" and "agonizing reappraisal" he has mobilized the enemy and maintained our entangling alliances.

Nobody, of course, would wish for the reverse of these accomplishments — war with Russia and desertion by our partners in NATO and SEATO. But when you've given the Dulles' defensive record, you've given it all.

IT STRUCK ME recently at a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that this hold-the-line trait in the Secretary is more damaging than we know. The witness, Dr. Harlan Cleveland, Dean of the School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University, made some points out of the blue, with no direct reference to the subject of Mr. Dulles. But the shoe fits. Dean Cleveland noted that: 1. Change is the order of things, not stability. "... our foreign policy does not yet reflect an assumption of rapid and continuous change in the world around us." During the Dulles incumbency there have been a major change — overs in Cairo, Rangoon, Karachi, Beirut, Baghdad, Havana and six other Latin American capitals. A great Secretary of State would not be caught by surprise as often as Mr. Dulles.

2. A BUSINESS corporation normally attends to a dozen or more important matters at the same time. But the State Department turns its back on Quemoy and hot-foots it to Berlin with a single-mindedness which could not survive in the marts of enterprise. A great Secretary would be a better organizer than to run around like a man with a fly swatter on a sleeping porch.

It is not good sport to criticize a sick man, but then the Cold War isn't cricket either. It's too bad we don't have a House of Lords. Public servants past their prime should have their shoes pulled off and be put to pasture. It would save much heartbreak for the principals. It would make columns like this one mercifully unnecessary.

PLYMOUTH, England — UPI — Mrs. Ida Crossman couldn't get

Raid Own Warehouse

MIAMI — UPI — City police found roulette wheels, dice tables and other gambling equipment in a warehouse and thought they had made a big haul.

A young patrolman obliged. "I wasn't going to ruin the dress by sleeping in it," Mrs. Grossman said.

He Who Hesitates ...

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — UPI — Police failed to act promptly Tuesday when an angry housewife called demanding they remove a skunk carcass from her back yard.

A short time after the call, a strong odor pervaded police headquarters. There was a dead skunk outside the office door.

"It would serve no useful purpose," the council said.

This Side of The Sun

Seems to me
That of this winter
All we've had
Is just a splinter.

Like the man said as he stood in the center, coat over arm:
"My, what a short winter!"

COMING TO THINK about it
— spring is only 16 days away.
On March 21 at 12:55 a. m. comes the Vernal Equinox, as we say when he want to be erudite.

Spring always reminds me of Connie Barbeau of The Dunes—and the way she used to sing "It Might as Well be Spring."
Today (Tuesday) also reminds me of another of the songs I liked to hear her sing:
"June is Busting Out All Over."
Well, with my usual luck when I brag about the weather, it will probably be snowing when this meets public perusal.

OUR POLICE are not without their sense of humor.
One of the reporters of The Sun got on the telephone the other day and called the police department.

"What's doing?" he asked.
"Whoozit?" asked the man at the PD desk.

"I'm from The Sun," said the newsmen.

"Well, I don't know," answered the policeman. "I'm new here myself. I'm from the moon."

WHILE WRITING about The Sun staff, here's one that Marian Weigel told me. (She's not on the staff but husband Fred C. is.)
The Weigels have seven youngsters so it's natural that they come up with bright sayings ever so often.

Now, you've seen these advertisements of an oil company showing a pair of dice dripping with oil with the reminder:
"Don't gamble with dirty oil."

WELL, YOUNG Casey Weigel (that isn't his name but he is called Casey because his initials are K. C. standing for Kenneth Christian) saw that sign:

"I know what that means, Mommy," he said.
"It means you should have clean dice when you gamble.
Shouldn't play with them when they are so dirty."

FREDDIE WATSON and Judge
Hilton McCabe have been friends for years. Always greeted each other cordially when they met on streets of our town.

Well, it seems Watson was on jury duty in Judge McCabe's Superior Court at Indio and the judge gave the usual instructions to the jury about not discussing the case being heard with anybody, opposing attorneys, witnesses, court attaches.

"In fact," he said, "play safe,
don't speak to anybody."

ABOUT THE FOURTH day of the trial Judge McCabe met his old friend Watson in the corridor of the Indio court.

Watson passed him story-faced.
"What's the matter, Fred?"
asked the judge, "why cut me dead?"

"Well," answered Watson, "you sternly told us not to speak to anyone in the corridors."

Said Kim McGinnis: "Childhood is that wonder time when all you need to lose weight is to bath."

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

I rang the bell for room service.
What service! He was rich ebony in color and his teeth were like a row of sugar lumps.
He wore a yellow silk vest and plum silk bloomers.

He touched his heart, his lips and his forehead. He inquired what would be my honor's pleasure.

I was about to tell him to build a solid gold palace and staff it with a crew of girls like Samia Gamal — he looked like something that would come up if you rubbed an old lamp the right way.

"HAM AND EGGS, orange juice and coffee, Sheik."
The Sheik bowed until his head swept the floor. He came back with a tray of croissants and jam and coffee. I don't know what happened. Maybe I rubbed him the wrong way. I was new in Egypt and did not dig the language.

THE SHEIK wrinkled his forehead. You could see he was trying to think of the words. His face relaxed and he beamed.
"Hokay?" he said.
"Jawohl, Emir," I said. I speak nearly everything fluently.

I TOOK THE coffee and went out on the balcony. The Nile was rolling along below me.
Cleopatra's very own Old Man River.

It was a bright and sunny day.
Warm as spring. A few sailboats went slowly along the river. A long curved rig of sail. Full of produce.

The air was noisy with a auto horns. Cairo is a horn - blowing town.

A FILE OF BLACK uniformed police guarded the entrance to the Nile Hilton. Mr. Conrad Hil-ton's home away from Hollywood.

The Sheik came back and picked up the tray and bowed to the floor again.

Who says the rich aren't really happy?

Jessel's Golden Jubilee in Show Business — 50 years of making people laugh — in the International Room of the Beverly Hilton. Guests on the dais:

Jessel and Benny, Cantor and Shore—WHO could ask for anything more.

Berle & Robinson, Georgie
Burns — they racked up a roomful of rich returns.
Sinatra's "Accustomed to 'our Free'" panicked the overflow populace.

The dough they raised, no hagatelle, all for Bonds for Israel — $1,250,000!

Yes, in addition to honoring (and kidding the pants off!)
Georgie, it was a benefit for a worthy cause, one that ex-Mayor Bob Briscoe of Dublin started here in Hollywood a year ago.
Here we go, taking the speakers
as listed above:

Jessel (famous for his eulogies): "I shall be very brief, because I have a funeral in an hour."

Jack Benny: "Georgie Benny has the best comedy mind in the business. He's been married to her for 30 years and it's too bad Gracie Allen couldn't be here tonight."

EDDIE CANTOR: "It has always been my philosophy that if you can't say anything good about anybody don't say anything. Good night and thanks for letting me speak!"

Dinah Shore: "Do I have to be funny? I've been sitting up here on the dais next to Milton Berle but did any of it rub off on me? NO!"

Uncle Miltie: "That Dinah is always smiling and I just found out why—her teeth don't fit!" Edward G. Robinson: "George Jessel is a Will Rogers with a bagel, a hedonist with a purpose."

GEORGE BURNS: "I can just see the coat of arms if they ever appoint Jessel Ambassador to Ireland — a shamrock rampant on a blintz!"

Then Frank Sinatra sang a Sammy Cahn parody of "I've Grown Accustomed to His Face" ("I ask you now to toast his years gone by, to toast his years to come, and pray the Lord to bless his soul, this sweet enchan-ced bum — he's all the greats I've ever known and I'm so glad I've grown accustomed to his face.")

CHANNEL CHATTER — Eddie Fisher will accompany Liz Taylor to the Academy Awards telecast April 6.

The big brass of the Cimarron City series is romancing folk-swinger Jimmie Rodgers to star in a segment titled "Rock-n-Roller."

Jimmy Shigeta, the young Japanese singer who made such a hit on Shirley MacLaine's Japanese show for Chevy, signed to star in Columbia Picture's movie,
"The Crimson Kimono," as the romantic lead opposite Victoria Shaw. And Jimmy likes it so well here he has said Savoynara! to Japan and signed with a Hollywood agent.

EVE BRENT bowed out as
"Jane" ("Me Jane—you Tarzan")
—remember?— in the new aperman movie, "Tarzan's Last Flight," and bowed in as Bud Pennell's pretty partner in the MGM-TV version of an old Bob Taylor movie, "Johnny Eager."

A private-eye series — what else?
Singer Georgia Gibbs tells me she'd love to have a series of her own. "But I'd like a different kind than the ones they're showing now," says Georgia — "one with a happy sponsor!"

Ex-MGM contractees Marjorie Hellen and Anne Neyland are neck-&-neck in the race to play Dean Jones's series sidekick in MGM-TV's "You're Only Young Once," a family situation-comedy show. They didn't make stardom in the studio's movies, maybe one of them will make it in Roarin' Leo's TV wing.

Silent star Janet Gaynor is making another comeback (this must be her fifth, at least!) as GE Theatre film, "The Flying Wife."

Top Program Set for UJA Dinner at Center Sunday

A multi-talented singer - entertainer and a troupe of Israeli dancers will augment a top-flight officer in the Israeli's armed forces — and two other speakers—in Sunday's United Jewish Appeal dinner at the Jewish Community Center.

The program, aimed at raising $100,000 here, begins at 6:30 p.m.

MARTY DRAKE, onetime recipient of a Metropolitan Opera Company scholarship and a major star in the Ted Lewis touring troupe, was announced yesterday by UJA Campaign Coordinator Emil Laufer as headliner of the entertainment phase of the dinner program. He'll share top billing with Col. Yehuda Prihar, commander of Israel's Combined Command School for Army, Navy and Air Force, Laufer said.

IN ADDITION, the troupe of Israeli dancers will perform danc-

Mineral Output Down
WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Domestic mineral output in 1958 was worth $16,400,000,000, a decline of $1,750,000,000 from the value of 1957 production, according to a preliminary report by the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Metal production, down 25.8 per cent from a year earlier, accounted for much of the overall decline, the report indicated.

Council Eyes Final Draft of Fees

Palm Springs City Council this week looked over what it believes will be the final draft of business license fee increase proposals and is expected to act on the passage of the new ordinance March 12.

Expected to bring $74,000 more to the income of the city, council plans to use the funds for the municipal golf course and to increase the revenues for Palm Springs advertising and promotion.

ONE MAJOR change has been made in the proposal, the amount paid by the trailer parks in the city. Under the new plan trailer parks will pay a $50 minimum, plus $4 per space over 12. The maximum amount will be $300.

Although this is the way the fees are set for the parks at this time, the council is continuing asking the city administration for a more equitable plan, which may be presented to them a week from today.

At Monday's council conference session, acting City Manager Shelby Langford read a resolution of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce in which it unanimously supported the license fee increase.

ONE OF THE mainstays of Coach George Scholl's high school baseball team this year is Catcher Joe Lewis. He's counted on for power at the plate, too. (Desert Sun Photo).

Indians to Field Fast Ball Club this Year

Coach George Scholl of the Palm Springs High School baseball team with his first practice test for his 1959 squad coming up in eight days, has cut his squad for both Varsity and Jayvee teams down to 26 players, among them several lettermen from last year's teams which finished high in the Riverside County League race.

The squad has been drilling daily at the Polo Grounds and Scholl looks for a successful season.

FIRST GAME for the Indians is on March 13, a week from tomorrow when the Mary Star school teams come here for two games, Friday and Saturday.

It will be the only two practice games for the Tribe before the start of the Riverside County League season on March 18. San Jacinto will be the Indians' first opponent.

SCHOLL WILL have Joe Lewis, football and basketball star, back to perform behind the plate. Lewis, one of the best catchers in the league and a power at bat, is one of two on the squad who have attracted attention of big league scouts.

The other is Cleo James, short stop. Right now Scholl doesn't know whether James will remain in school for the baseball season.

ON THE MOUND Larry Segunda is returning. He was among the top pitchers of the RCL last year. Bobbie Flores is his relief man.

Garnett is returning for the first base post. Burke will be at second and if James is not available, Norman Ruiz will be at shortstop. Lenny Ruiz is top candidate for third base.

STAN CIRATA is ahead in the drive for center field with left field and right field still in doubt. Scholl had forty boys out at the start of practice for both Varsity and Jayvee but has reduced the squad to 26 a of now.

Home games for the Indians will be played at the Polo Grounds.

Not Feuding With Tebbetts Says Haney

Brave Manager Denies Trouble In Champ Ranks

BRADENTON, Fla. — UPI — Manager Fred Haney tried to put to rest today "for all time" any reports that he might not be able to get along with Birdie Tebbetts, the new front office head of the Milwaukee Braves.

There were reports that there was no love lost between the two while Tebbetts managed the Cincinnati Reds.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," Haney exclaimed. "Why Birdie and I have been friends for 25 years, since way back when he was with Detroit and I was managing at Toledo, then a Tiger farm club.

"We've been good friends off the field. I never have any friends in an opposing dugout."

HANEY NORMALLY uses some words that can't be printed in a family newspaper, but he saves his choice ones whenever questioned about his reported feud with Tebbetts.

"Hell," he explained, "you could say I feud with every manager in the other dugout. He is out to beat me, and I don't like to get beat. So on the field, every manager in the league is an enemy of mine. But off the field, we're all good friends. But once we take the field, the manager of the other team is no friend of mine — until after the game is over.

"That's the way it was with Birdie and me. We aren't going to have any trouble."

HANEY ALSO emphasized that the Braves second base situation "isn't as desperate as it's been painted."

"I'm not concerned. I'm not frantic," Haney said. "We've got Mel Roach, Felix Mantilla, Ken Wise and a kid by the name of Charles Cotter and they can do the job. The reports I get on Roach's leg are okay, although he may not be ready to open the season.

"But I do appreciate what the loss of the redhead (Red Schoendienst) means to the ball club. No club can lose a player like that without being hurt."

Schoendienst is hospitalized with tuberculosis and is out for this season, at least.

WHILE HE WAS in a denying mood, Haney also blasted reports that he might retire.

Haney, who has been in professional baseball since 1918, is 60 years old.

"There is absolutely no thought in my mind of retiring," he declared in louder than usual tones. "I'll quit when they stop paying me."

So long as he keeps on winning pennants with the Braves, those paychecks aren't going to stop. Pennant winning managers aren't fired very often, the last one being Charlie Dressen after winning with the Dodgers in 1953.

City Hoop Crown At Stake Tonight In Final Game

Laury's Steak Ranch and Smoke Tree Stables basketball fives clash tonight on the high school floor in the closing game of the 1959 City League season with the championship hanging on the result.

Laury's has won 13 games and is charged with one defeat, a disputed forfeiture. Smoke Tree Stables has won 12 and lost two, both defeats being by Laury's.

IF SMOKE TREE wins tonight the leadership will be thrown into a snarl and a playoff will be necessary.

If Laury's wins, they will have the undisputed championship. In two years of play Laury's has not lost a game on the floor. They were charged with one defeat in winning the title last year but that was due to a default.

THE ONLY DEFEAT charged to them this year was a default when they failed to field a team at the required time.

Manager Jim Schilling has disputed the default claim, saying his team was not notified of a change in schedule and therefore doesn't have a team ready when the game was called.

Snider to Play In Opening Game

VERO BEACH, Fla. — UPI — Veteran star Duke Snider will play in Saturday's opening game of the grapefruit league between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Duke, showing all the signs of eagerness and determination that could lift the Dodgers into the first division of the National League this year, volunteered Wednesday to play a couple innings in the exhibition game.

Squaw Valley Found Ideal For Olympic Winter Games

By HAL WOOD

United Press International
SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — Squaw Valley proved itself an ideal location for international competition during the past two weeks, Robert L. King, executive director of the 1960 Olympic winter games, said today.

Surveying the results of two weeks of battling by athletes from 13 nations, King said he was well pleased with the results and the international speed skating competition.

"Sure, we had some complaints," said King, "but they were outweighed, by far, by the compliments. Even the cross-country run, which was under

Last Half Rally By Smoke Tree Five Wins, 46-29

Smoke Tree Stables evened things up with the H and H Lumber Company of Indio in a return basketball game last night on the high school floor here, winning 46 to 29. The night before the Indio team had edged Smoke Tree Stables 30 to 28.

The Villagers were paced by Ed Tarr who found the range in the second half for nine field goals. His total for the night was 21.

Smoke Tree Stables trailed in the first half 17-18 but scored 29 in the final two periods to the Indio team's 11.

The line score:

Robertson Wins Player of Year Award 2nd Time

NEW YORK — UPI — Record-breaking Oscar Robertson of the University of Cincinnati established another precedent today when he was named college basketball's "Player of the Year" for the second straight season in the United Press International poll.

The 20-year-old junior from Indianapolis, Ind., was the overwhelming choice of the 277 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in the 1959 nationwide voting.

fire at the start of the games, came in for praise. Top men from Europe told me it was perfect for an Olympic test."

THE WINTER GAMES showed that, before the Olympic games come here next February, the United States will have to do some sharpening up if it hopes to be a top contender.

Of the 18 events on the card here during the last two weeks, American athletes won nine—but eight of these were in the alpine, where the foreign competition wasn't quite as rugged. The other came in the biathlon Tuesday, where there were only two foreign athletes competing.

Uncle Sam's boys failed to win a single crown in speed skating or ski jumping. Their best effort in the cross-country was a 14th place finish in the 30 kilometer and 11th in the 20 kilometer.

Foreign athletes loved Squaw Valley's natural facilities. And the hot summer-like sun on the snow was welcome to most.

AMONG THE THINGS they didn't like, however, were: Sleeping four men to a room in the dormitories; wading through the mud on the unpaved streets; standing in line for an hour or more to get served their meals; and no "dry-out" rooms for their clothes.

"Most of these things we'll be able to remedy before 1960," said King, "I don't know about the room situation, however."

The state already has built four dormitories, housing 300 each on a four-to-the-room basis for the Olympic games.

"It would cost another quarter-million dollars to build another dormitory," said King. "And I can't see how we can handle that."

In conjunction with the commemorative week, Palm Springs schools will study and emphasize the protection of forests, fields, and water sheds and the conservation of soil, gas, oil, minerals and wildlife and the protection of scenic and recreation areas, Dr. Twist said.

Area Building Figures Given

A total of $262,273 in building permits were issued during the month of February in the unincorporated territory included in the Palm Springs Unified School District.

The monthly analysis, filed by C. G. Bixel, county building director, indicated that unincorporated area in the north portion of the school district had a total of $135,381 in new building and the southern portion of the district had a total of $126,892.

Biggest contributor in the southern total was a huge $90,518 figure for single family dwellings. The northern total was made up largely by the same factor but also included respectable totals in multiple dwelling construction and in "other buildings and miscellaneous permits."

A total of $463,170 in new permits for the month was recorded for the Indio School District, the report said. Countywide total for all unincorporated territory was $4,330,755.

Crossing Guard Problem To Be Studied for DHS

The dilemma of the Desert Hot Springs Parent Guild and Chamber of Commerce in solving a problem of protection for school children crossing the street was this week referred by the Board of Supervisors to the county traffic committee for study and recommendation.

Robert Rickert, president of the Guild, and a C of C director, told the supervisors that they have been informed by Dr. Dwight E. Twist, superintendent of the Palm Springs Unified School District, that is now legally possible for the district to employ a crossing guard at Palm Drive and Second Street.

"WE DO NOT HAVE a state road running through our midst, so we do not have the aid in maintaining a guard," said Rickert, "and we're not incorporated, so we do not have the aid of a city safety program."

Rickert observed that there are many retired people in the Desert Hot Springs area, a large number of whom are invalids taking medicines which make them "woozy and unconscious of the great danger they are in."

HE SAID OTHERS get "dizzy and confused." He cited two accidents which he said resulted from such conditions.

"Our children are subjected to the likes of these on our streets daily," declared Rickert in a letter to the board asking for help. In addition to Rickert's signature, the letter bore those of three other members of the Guild's executive board, and 11 other C of C directors.

Water Service

PUC Acts on Complaint

A complaint by one water company against another today resulted in an interim order by the California Public Utilities Commission restraining both from providing further service in an area just west of Indio "pending further determination."

The Rancho Ramon Water Co., last summer complained that the Oasis Palms Water Co. is serving 63 customers in the Oasis Palm subdivision without a certificate of public convenience and necessity. Today's decision, which found that the Oasis Palms Water Co. was conducting a public utility water service requiring a certificate, said the complaint "resolves itself to a conflict" as to which company should serve the area. Furthermore, the commission said, ownership of the Oasis Palms Water Co. "is in dispute." The Oasis Palms Water Co., although it cannot add new customers for the time being, was authorized to continue charging those it now has the present flat rate of $7 a month until a final order is issued.

Juniors Stage Style Show for United Fund

A STYLE SHOW LUNCHEON which the Junior Women's Club staged at El Mirador Tuesday afternoon was a benefit for the United Fund. Pictured at the head table are, from left, Mrs. B. H. Poliak, representing the United Fund; Mrs. Don Williams, Club president; and Mrs. Gene Stormoen, luncheon chairman. Standing back of them is Mrs. Wynne Hammond, who commented the show. (El Mirador Photo by Conrad Hug)

The Junior Women's Club-sponsored style show luncheon at El Mirador Tuesday, which was a benefit for the United Fund, drew a fair-sized crowd of fashion-conscious women.

Lillian Agar's El Mirador shop staged a 45-minute showing of delightfully feminine and flattering gowns by such coutouriers as Ceil Chapman, Pat Premo, Ursula, Ben Reig, Ernest Newman.

Polka Dots, the little girl look, and a flattering new color cinnamon toast were noticeable in the show, which was capably commented by Wynne Hammond. Barbara Foster coordinated the show and also modeled.

Sweater dresses topped with jeweled cashmere sweaters, long a favorite in Palm Springs, shared in the show. Among the polka dot dresses was a Pat Premo of cotton voile, low-cut in back. Of interest, too, were the costume effects of over blouses and back panels that changed the appearance of plain sheaths, and the use of cut-out lace as a dress trim.

A Ceil Chapman in a floral cotton print, tucked-pleated for a snug fit around the waist, drew applause as did the Ursula original of polished cotton that was overlaid with organza for a delightful misty effect.

Billy Allen's orchestra played for the show and Tex Kidwell assisted with the announcing. There from the Playhouse was Leo G. Carroll, who will appear next week in "The Late George Apley," and he drew the tickets for the door prizes.

Presiding at the head table were Mrs. Don Williams, Club president and Mrs. Gene Stormoen, luncheon chairman, and Mrs. B. H. Poliak, representing the United Fund.

Rayon Stockings?

Nylons in Their 20th Year Now A Wardrobe Necessity

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — This month marks the 20th birthday of the greatest boon to feminine legs since skirts moved off the loor.

Nylon stockings first went on sale in February, 1939. Today, we take the synthetic fiber for granted, not only for our stockings, but for lingerie, other apparel of the whole family, and an infinite variety of uses from toothbrushes to tires.

It has not always been so. Some of us are ancient enough to remember owning our first pair of nylon hose around 1940, and also to recall that just as we were getting used to them on our gams, the fiber went to war. The result was hardly panic; we just reverted to stockings from an even older synthetic fiber — rayon. Silk had become a casualty too; an embargo on its import went into effect in August, 1941.

But we repaired and coddled any nylons we owned. Remember those stories of rewards offered for the lost half of a pair? Or, the stories of long queues of women, and sometimes men, which formed when a store got a precious supply.

E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co., which developed the fiber, leafed through some of its scrapbooks from those war years and uncovered one plaintive letter from a lovesick youth who asked for just one pair of nylons to cinch his engagement. "The value of the nylons will be equal to, and perhaps cherished more, than any diamond I could obtain for her now," he wrote. Du Pont doesn't recall whether it helped Dan Cupid's cause by supplying a pair of hose.

The company's researchers announced development of the test-tube fiber in October, 1938. The first full-fashioned hosiery from it went on sale to Du Pont employees, February 20, 1939, with a girl's purchase limited to two pairs.

The hose first were shown to the public at the San Francisco World's Fair in February of the same year; but the first public sale was in October, 1939, to shoppers of Wilmington, Del., headquarters for DuPont. By May 15, 1940, nylons were selling nationally.

Today, DuPont and hosiery manufacturers both battle another "myth" — that nylons nowadays don't wear as well as the pre-war ones. But they explain that most of today's nylons are much sheerer than the early ones. The customer who demands gossamer weight even for general wear, they say, can't expect the same ney Bill Hayes were on another court opposing Ray Nasher and Donald Straelen.

Haviland Smith of Newport Beach, was joining seasoned players Mac Krim and song writer Eugene Franks while his wife, Fran Smith, was among those taking a lesson from tennis pro Dave Gillam. Between lessons Dave was busy making arrangements with Ginny Simms to teach her sons David and Conrad his magic with a tennis racket, help Janet Leigh brush up on her game, and tell Ellsworth Vines, Jr. and the Edwin Morris' sons Chris and Steve when their next lesson would take place.

Ray Danton had two of his favorite fans, wife Julie Adams and son Stephen, watching from the sidelines while he and Ernst Herman engaged in a fast set of doubles with Charlie Farrell and producer William Orr. Husband and wife teams on the courts were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelleher of Beverly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. John Hessel of Brentwood and the Tom Hamiltons of Santa Monica who almost had their own planned tournament for the week end.

Former Villager Here for Month

Mrs. Eugene Steffes, the former Fern White, who has been missing from the Palm Springs scene since her marriage two years ago in Honolulu, is occupying her home at 137 Mesquite for a month.

Mrs. Steffes, who has traveled extensively in the Orient since her marriage, accompanying her husband on business trips connected with his work with boat manufacturing companies, came here for her daughter Sandra's marriage to Robert Wood on February 14 in Las Vegas.

Tennis Engrosses Interest of Young, Old Racquet Clubbers

The towering slopes of San Jacinto, which can be viewed from any spot at the Racquet Club, did not in the least interest the active tennis group of the past few days. Future tennis stars Jody and Missy Montgomery were trying to imitate the tennis ability of their famous parents Dinah Shore and George Montgomery. Dinah and tennis hostess Julie Copeland were matched on one court against Sy Bartlett and restaurateur Jack Buchtel, while George and attorney

Fete Birthday With Dinner at Hilltop Room

The Sam Frankels of Pepper Tree Inn chose the delightful Hilltop Room at Desert Skies Hotel for the setting for a recent party, which celebrated his birthday. The affair had been arranged by Mrs. Frankel.

A large birthday cake, decorated in a race track motif, topped the dinner.

Felix De Cola entertained at the piano, together with Jeanne Keller, whose intimate style of singing is an attraction at the Hilltop Room.

Causing a lot of merriment was the original song "Dearie" which Alyce Walker wrote for the occasion, which recalled when Pepper Tree was a lonely motel, and Zeddie fixed klunker autos.

Guests included the Dan McGowan (co-owners of the Pepper Tree), the Mack Reases, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beckwith of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Mort Kalls of Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Brook of Michigan City, Indiana, and Richard Bechtel.

Planning Ahead

Instead of making sandwiches each day for school or work lunches, Michigan State University home economists suggest that you make several at a time and freeze them until you need them.

You will get best results by using butter as a spread, as mayonnaise or salad dressing tend to make sandwiches soggy when thawed.

"Life" she would get from heavier stockings.

The DuPont files include a story on how a nylon rush clogged telephone lines in the nation's capital in January, 1948. A radio announcer said that a chain of shoe stores had 1,000 pairs of nylons and the first 1,000 telephone callers would get them.

The result: Complete disruption of the capital's telephone service for an hour.

ARE THESE SEVEN MIDWEST COMPANIES ABOUT TO INCREASE THEIR EARNINGS?

How can you tell whether a stock has good long term prospects? Perhaps the best way is to visit the company . . . find out what management has projected for the future . . . check your information against all available data . . . and compare the company's potential with its competitors. That's why the Shearson, Hammill & Co. research team spend so much time "on the road" . . . constantly seeking little-known situations which the firm's customers may turn to a profit.

Recently a team of Shearson analysts made one of their periodic survey trips to the Middle West. They talked to dozens of key business figures. As a result they concluded that seven companies have particularly good prospects for substantial increases in earnings.

Two of these companies are well known meat packers. It is Shearson's opinion that increasing livestock supplies and lower overhead costs should bring about impressive gains for both firms.

A famous brewery is another Shearson prospect for excellent growth. In this case a recent merger seems likely to yield strong benefits.

The Shearson research team also recommends: . . . a large manufacturer of building products . . . a leading vending machine corporation . . . an electrical equipment firm . . . a chain of auto supply stores

Would you like the names of these seven Middle Western companies and Shearson's field trip findings on each of them? You may have the full report without obligation.

Weekend Art Mart Is Unique

The Art Mart, sponsored by the Desert Art Center and held on the grounds of Marion Davies' Desert Inn every Saturday and Sunday, is a unique feature of the Palm Springs winter season.

The artists themselves are present, displaying their own work on easels, and they are very happy to explain their pictures and answer any questions.

Visitors are often surprised at the great variety in style of the paintings shown and by the many methods employed in painting — there is work done on driftwood, cork, mahogany and velvet. Sometimes they may watch a demonstration by a popular artist. All the paintings are for sale, and many at very modest prices.

Two of the artists are currently having one-man shows: R. Brownell McGrew at Palm Desert and John Hilton at Scottsdale, Arizona. Wilton McCoy, considered one of our ablest interpreters of the desert — he's a 25-year resident of this area — and Ann Bennett of Pasadena and Palm Springs, who does desert and seascapes and now specializes in animal portraits, are among those showing their paintings the coming week end. Other artists are E. L. Forbes and Hazel R. Meehan of Orange, Margaret Magnusson, Maryland Lewis, Urdia of Laguna, John Heland, Adele Brott, Arthur Gilderleeve, Abruzzi of Spain, Mabel Roberts, Ruth Grady, Rosa Cassidy and Samuel Fleischman, who is chairman of the Artists and Sculptors Guild of the Desert Art Center and in general charge of the Art Mart.

From Hollywood to Capetown Visitors Are Holidaying Here

The white Colonial archway of The Howard Manor is the entrance to vacationland for vacationers from all parts of the country.

Relaxing in the peaceful surroundings of the olive courtyard, swimming in the azure pool, lunching poolside, dancing to the music of the Manor's two orchestras—Murray Arnold's and Pepe Callahan's, or enjoying the view of towering Mt. San Jacinto from one's own penthouse are all a part of vacation time at Howard Manor.

Marie McDonald, one of Hollywood's famed stars, often referred to as "The Body," is among those staying at the Manor this week-end.

The birthday of Maurice Barnett, who with Mrs. Barnett is vacationing all the way from Huntington Woods, Michigan, was the occasion for a merry poolside celebration with, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Halter of Rochester, New York.

Here from the farthest distance is Dol Segal whose home is in Capetown, South Africa. Atlanta, Georgia visitors are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ranan.

Michigan is represented by Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Rand of Detroit, D. E. Weidner and O. E. Sparks both of Van Dyke, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Albert, Birmingham.

Mt. Vernon, New Jersey, is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nye, while Denver holidayers are Mr. and Mrs. David Golden, the Birnie Wolffs and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Epstein.

Here earlier in the season Dr. and Mrs. Albert Scheinbaum have returned from Philadelphia for several weeks. Also from that city are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mitchell.

The cold of Stamford, Connecticut brought Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brown here, while Gordon Groth is here from Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Alan Curtis, Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Friedman, Tacoma, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Futowsky and their daughter, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Holly, York, Pennsylvania; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kolp and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rodebough, Canton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Granick, Mountaineer, New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. George

Elsinore Artist To Demonstrate Oil Painting

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Ralph Love, prize-winning Elsinore artist, will open a week-long showing of his scenic canvases here with a public demonstration of oil painting.

An exhibit of Love's paintings go on display at the Twentynine Palms Art Gallery from March 7 through 23 under sponsorship of the Twentynine Palms Artists Guild.

THE ARTIST will offer a demonstration of oil painting at 8 p.m., Monday, March 7.

A native Californian presently living in Elsinore, Love has accumulated numerous awards and prizes in several prominent California art exhibitions.

He won first prize in the showings at the Santa Cruz Art Gallery and the Society of Western Artists De Young Museum exhibit and garnered similar honors at the 1938 San Bernardino National Orange Show and the Richmond Civic Art Center exhibit sponsored by the Society of Western Artists of San Francisco in 1938.

LOVE HAS conducted art classes in outdoor painting for the past 12 years. He has taught at the Riverside Art Center and was guest instructor at Marquette Reitzel's Pescadero Summer Art School.

Love's paintings scheduled for display here are a variety of scenes, including desert, mountains, cattle ranches, old mining towns and seascapes.

Two Tax Books Now Available at San Bernardino

Taxpayers with problems not covered by the instruction book accompanying their 1958 tax forms may find aid in two books prepared by the Internal Revenue Department.

Robert Riddell, director of the Los Angeles office of the bureau, said that the books—"Your Federal Income Tax" and "Tax Guide for Small Business"—cost 35 cents each and are available at 568 Mountain View Avenue, San Bernardino.

PALM DESERT'S VANITY FAIR WEEK TO BENEFIT ANGEL VIEW HOSPITAL

PALM DESERT — Vanity Fair Week, to be conducted here beginning Saturday by the Palm Desert Women's Club, will feature three El Dorado Palms Estates homes that exhibit the design and decorating genius of three of the desert's best-known talents.

All proceeds of the week-long function will be turned over to the Angel View Crippled Children's Hospital at Desert Hot Springs, it was announced today.

ROME DECORATION and design by Arthur Elrod, Michael Buccino and Harry Friedman are to be featured in the three homes to be exhibited by the Palm Desert organization.

Headquarters for the function will be the El Dorado Palms development, located adjacent to both the Indian Wells and El Dorado country clubs. El Dorado Palms Estates Sales Manager Kirk Kirkwood is in charge of overall direction and coordination of the joint effort.

homes were designed by Charles W. Doty with the three decorators each utilizing their own specific "dream house" design in furnishing and decorating a house. Featured in the El Dorado Palms Estates are such seldom-seen features as "Weathermaker" touch control air conditioning and sunken "Roman baths."

The 'Average' Shaver

NEW YORK — (UPI) — The average man shaves once a day, in the morning, in front of the bathroom mirror, before cleaning his teeth, combing his hair or taking his shower. He wears his pajamas and shaves his right cheek first and his neck last.

Anyway, that's what the North American Philips Co found during a recent survey among new purchasers of its electric razor. The survey also showed that the average shave lasts two to six minutes and that most men use this time either listening to the radio or TV or doing what they described as "nothing."

tation is easily accessible from California Highway 111 with signs — at the westernmost boundaries of Indian Wells — leading motorists directly to the site of the function.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: I receive help (financial) from a married man. He says he loves me and the only difference between our relationship and marriage is that he has to go home. I don't dare go out with anyone else because it might get back to him. I have no future with this man but what am I to do? Am I to be stuck with him forever because I have accepted his generosity? How does a woman get off a merry-go-round like this?

DEAR STUCK: She walks out the door, gets herself a job and supports herself like a million other self-respecting women do. And if she's wise she goes as far away as possible and leaves no forwarding address. All you can get on a merry-go-round is a brass ring. Try for a gold one.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and my problem is kissing. I go with this boy who is also 14. He is polite and sweet and considerate but he always kisses me in public. I keep telling him, "Not in public," but he says he doesn't know the people and they don't know him. What can I do? Don't you think we are too young to kiss in public?

DEAR KISSING: Kissing in public is not acceptable at any age. Your boyfriend is too fast for his age and I suggest you cut down on the kissing in private as well.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when your best girl friend and her mother get into a family argument? This happens all the time, and I feel like I would like to crawl into a hole. Should I just stand there like a dummy?

MISS THIRD PARTY
DEAR THIRD: Don't stand there like a "dummy" ... ask to be excused like a smart girl.

DEAR ABBY: My sister and her husband visited us recently and when they got home they sent us a card congratulating us on our 50th wedding anniversary and there was a $25.00 check enclosed. Now, Abby, my husband and I were married in 1914 which is not fifty years ago. How could a sister make such a mistake? I don't feel right keeping the money and I don't think it would be nice to send it back. What should we do?

FEELING FUNNY
DEAR FEELING: Write your sister and thank her. Tell her she made a boo-boo and ask her if she'd like you to hold the check until 1964.

DEAR ABBY: Good for MRS. JOHN DOE! I am another widow who was shocked and dismayed when sympathy cards (and other social mail) came addressed to me as MRS. JANE DOE. It was as though they felt I no longer had the right to use my dear departed husband's name. I don't know why so many people are ignorant of the proper etiquette in this matter. A divorcee might prefer to drop her husband's name but a widow finds it hard to give up. Most widows want to continue to use their husband's name but aren't sure if it's correct, and if they missed your column they still don't know.

... by Abigail VanBuren

ANOTHER MRS. JOHN DOE
For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Auto Field Narrows Down

NEW YORK — (UPI) — In 1909, the year the Model T Ford was introduced, there were more than 200 auto manufacturers — working mostly out of garages and blacksmith shops.

Price tags on "horseless carriages" in those days ranged from around $250 for a one-cylinder to $7,500 for a six-cylinder model.
